

GRAVITY HOUSE

BASEMENT FLOOR

Comprehensively fitted-out, Gravity House on Frith Street in the heart of London's Soho offers a revolutionary new solution for post-production teams large and small. Combining the expert skills of our engineering team with our 30-year experience in post-production industry, we've created a facilities house that's both practical and luxurious – and simply an enjoyable place to be.

Your media is kept safe and secure in an air-conditioned and backed-up server room, with friendly staff on hand to help with any technical issues you may run into.

The basement floor features our luxurious nine seats screening room making Gravity House an ideal venue for anyone looking to showcase early cuts or host exclusive events. It is fitted with a large screen and surround sound so that your productions can be shown at their very best. With the fully stocked bar on the ground floor, you can hold a drinks reception and catering can be provided.

The engineering workshop is located down the corridor where our friendly and knowledgeable engineers are always on hand 24/7 to help you with any technical issues you may run into.
